Dear colleagues,

It is our pleasure to invite you to the Annual Spring Meeting of the Swiss Society of Pharmacology & Toxicology, which will be held in person on April 24, 2025. This year's topic will be New Horizons in Disease Prevention.

The meeting will connect researchers interested or working in the fields of experimental pharmacology, clinical pharmacology, clinical, experimental or regulatory toxicology, and in pharmaceutical medicine. The structure of the program will allow each discipline to present their field and its perspectives. A key objective of the conference is to promote interactions between academic, clinical and industrial sectors. Not the least, we expect that the meeting will provide to our younger members insights into the broad and rapidly evolving spectrum of pharmacology and toxicology as well as unique opportunities for personal contacts in the field.
